Note from the teacher

Good morning families! I'm so glad fall is here. We had some beautiful weather this weekend. I hope you and your families got to do something fun and relaxing.

The class has been working hard and learning lots. We will have our first reading test this Wednesday. The district has asked that we do all our ELA testing on line so the first couple of times we take the test we will do it together.

I will be out on Friday October 4th. Mrs. Derger will be the sub. She has subbed in our building many times and I'm sure most of the class will know her. I will go over my expectations with the class on Thursday before we leave.

Please check out the pictures of what partner reading looks like in class and the AMAZING things our PTO has coming up.

Please reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns.

This week's Focus Lessons

Up coming PTO events: Book Fair

Come to our SCHOLASTIC BOOK FAIR

Visit us in the Library
Monday, 10/14 - Thursday, 10/18

Plus, donate to Books for All, our new program which allows every student to leave the Fair with a book! Venmo @Trisha-Franklin with "Books for All" in the note.

The Book Fair is coming our way. Yay!

NEW this year is Books for All! This year EVERY student will leave the Book Fair with a book in hand. Students will select a book during their class preview. You can help support our goal of Books for All by donating at the checkout of the Fair or by sending $ to Trisha Franklin, the host of our Fair, on Venmo @Trisha-Franklin. All donations go towards Books for All.

We also invite you to volunteer to help during Book Fair week. You'll receive a $15 Book Fair voucher for every shift you volunteer. Visit SignUp Sheet | Evite to sign up. Thank you to all who help make our Fair a success!

Families can shop Monday, 10/14, through Wednesday, 10/17, from 3pm-7pm and Thursday, 10/18, from 10am-7pm. For more information head to <https://bit.ly/DFBookFair2024>
